

Abstract Of The Disclosure

A candy package is provided, having a container and an openable lid or closure, with the container being divided into a plurality of cells. A plurality of candies are provided in each cell, with the candies simulating the appearances of various forms of fishing tackle and the container and lid simulating the appearance of a fishing tackle box.